1. "We Mongolian people must remember to carry out the will of Marshal Suhobator. We must expand and ameliorate our national economy, raise the education of our Mongolian young people to a high level, increase the number of cultivated fields, and help the people of the USSR and supply them with horses, cattle and sheep." (Peiping Note: Marshal Suhobator effected the Communist revolution in North (Outer) Mongolia. After his death Choibalsan was appointed marshal).

30 April 1947 broadcast

2. "Tomorrow, 1 May, is the solemn spring day for all the world. This day is the day of liberty and independence of progressive men. Our country, Mongolia, on the occasion of the 1 May festival, marking her liberty and independence, must increase the prosperity of progressive civilization and improve the economic situation of the country.

"The people of the USSR, having defeated the common enemy--Hitler's Germany and imperialistic Japan--are now very successfully accomplishing the works of all branches of industry and social economy. Our Red Mongolian Republic must work in the same way that the people of the USSR do, and we must break through all difficulties and accomplish the first Five Years Plan."

10 May 1947 broadcast

3. "To the President of the High Council of the USSR, the great leader, Joseph Vissarionovich Stalin:

"The Mongolian people congratulate you on the occasion of the great victory over Hitler's Germany, as well as on the occasion of the very solemn festival of the second anniversary of the native war (sic). The Mongolian people cordially congratulate the people of the USSR, who are going to achieve democratic peace over all the world. Long live the inviolable fraternal union of both our countries!

Marshal Choibalsan, Ulan Bator, 8 May, 1947"

5. "To the Minister of Foreign Affairs and Member of the High Council of the USSR, Comrade Molotov:

"On the occasion of the day of victory of the native war (sic) of the USSR, as well as on the occasion of the second anniversary of the solemn festival of the victory, the Mongolian people cordially congratulate you as a man who inflexibly upholds the high intention of the humane ideas of the great Stalin concerning strong and lasting peace over all the world. May the inviolable friendship of both our nations be more strong.

Marshal Choibalsan, Ulan Bator, 8 May, 1947"
